the matter but that he deliberately exposed my bid to the others, whe were thereby enable to underbid me by only $18.

Gen. Birney has published several other statements not true. He says he invited proposals to do the work from the leading plumbing firms in the district. Only Hayward & Hutchinson answered. Who are the other leading plumbing firms he invited to make proposals? He says Hutchinson's bid for $1.470 was imperfect; was not for the same work as mine; did not contain the same specifications, and was unsatisfactory. I quots his exact words. Why then did he copy Hutchinson's bid of Aug. 11, 1882, all most exactly in language, precisely the same in substance, except as I have pointed out, and send it to me to be filled up, as a correct form? The chief difference was I had four sinks less to make than Hutchinson first offered, and was required to guarantee the work for a year, which Hutchinson was not. And if Hutchinson's form of contract was unsatisfactory, why was the same form of contract sent to me for acceptance, and finally accepted as their bid, after Gen. Birney had found out my price and asked them to underbid that?

I have demanded an investigation from the cemmissioners, and I trust they have justice enough to grant it. This is my statement of the affair. There are other circumstances pointing as strongly to prove my charges, which I do not now state."

"Mr. Brooks," said a Republican "why

which I do not now state."

"Mr. Brooks," said a REPUBLICAN reporter last night to that gentleman, "why did you resign from the board of school trustees?"

"My reasons for that step," said Mr. Brooks,

"are assigned at length in my letter of resig-nation to the commissioners, and until they take official action thereon I think it would be discourteous to them for me to speak of it

"Have they accepted your resignation?"

"I have not been so informed as yet."

"What do you know about this petition presented to the commissioners asking that another trustee be appointed in the second division in place of Gen. Birney?"

"Gen. Birney is obnoxious to the great majority of the people of the second division."

"Has it anything to do with the Hutchinson bill?"

"As to that I wish to see its least that

"As to that I wish to say in justice to the board of trustees that the Hutchinson bill was never before the board nor the committee "As to that I wish to say in justice to the board of trustees that the Hutchinson bill was never before the board nor the committee on accounts. The commissioners in their interview, as published in the press, and in their conversation with members of the board taiked as if the board knew all about it. This is not so. I for one was entirely in the dark about it. Gen. Birney neuroped the functions of the board and of the committees in getting from the commissioners early in the organization of the board and of the committees in getting from the commissioners supposed he was acting for the board, as he was the purchase supplier, do repairs, and make other expenditures. The commissioners supposed he was acting for the board, as he was not president. The board, as he was the president. The board, so far as he was concerned, was not informed regularly nor at the proper time, nor allowed to take its usual course in directing what should be done. This action on Gen. Birney's part was the commencement of the trouble in the board. He received communications from the commissioners which he did not lay before the board. He deceived the commissioners in leading them to suppose he was informing the board of their communications. So extraordinary was his conduct that on one occasion it became necessary in open board to publicly inform him that he had only the authority of a trustee of the public schools, and that as president of the board he was simply a presiding officer, elected by that board for its convenience in transacting business. He also insisted upon the authority to control and make up the minutes. By vote the board refused to adopt a rule he had introduced giving him the power to direct the making up of the minutes. So far as the Hutchinson bill is concerned, Mr. Hutchinson told me that Gen. Birney told him $1,250 was the limit he was authorized to spend, and that if he would do it for that sum he could. There are other reasons, besides those I have mentioned, which impelled the citizens of the second division to Birney was put on the school board last year the trustees were appointed as a body, and each assigned to a division by a bylaw of the board. When Birney was appointed, he was specially assigned by the commissioners to that division though residing out of its limits, and in reality out of the city limits, in the

Mr. Lovejoy was called upon by a reporter, and asked if it was true that he had resigned. "It is not true," was the answer. "I have not resigned, and have no intention of resigning.

The reporter next called on Dr. Robert B. Detrich and asked him about the petition ae had presented to the commissioners during the day, asking that another trustee be ap-pointed in place of Gen. Birney for the sec-ond school division.

"The people of the second division," said Dr. Detrich, "have good reason in wishing a Dr. Detrich, "have good reason in wishing a change. In the first place, we have a better man, a resident of the district—Mr. B. H. Warner—whom we wish to see trustee of that division; secondly, Gen. Birney is not a resident of the division, and we think it reflects on us to go outside of the division and appoint a man to manage our schools, as i we didn't have ability enough within ourselves to do it. Thirdly, Gen. Birney is an infidel on religious matters. Not a passive, qu'i scent skeptic, but an active proselyting sk ptic. Now we who believe in Christianity trans we have some religious rights in the time we have some religious rights in the schools, which we propose to maintain. If necessiry we will appeal to the Christian softment of the country to sustain us."

"What evidence have you that Gen. Birney

is a *k pile?"

"His own speech and general reputation.

More than that. Aug. 22, 1832, he offered in the school board an amendment to the bylaws striking out the sentence which makes it optional with the teachers to repeat the It optional with the teachers to repeat the Lord's prayer. You will find this on page 24 of the minutes of the meeting of that date. He had expressed himself very earnestly against the reading of the Bible in the schools and the singing of hymns, saying he didn't want any Methodist hymns sung in the schools. The hymns are such as are common property with all Protessuch as are common property with all Protes-tant denominations. Well, the board voted tant denominations. down his amendments, and he then went to the supervising principal of the second divis-iou and requested him to direct the teachers not to repeat the Lord's prayer or read the Bible in the schools. This the supervising principal refused to do. Gen. Birney, for this refusal to accede to his wishes, afterwards tried to get Mr. Gage transferred to Georgetrace to get Mr. Gage transferred to George-twn and Mr. Janney assigned to the second division. He falled in this—among other reasons because Mr. Janney refused to be a party to the scheme. Gen. Birney also went to a lady teacher and made the same request he did of Mr. Gage. He said there were many Catholics and Jews in the schools who many Catholics and Jews in the schools who were offended by reading the Bible and re-peating the Lord's prayer. This lady teacher spoke to several of the teachers, among others to one who is a Cath-olic. The latter indignantly refused to stop reading the Bible. She wouldn't give to stop reasoning the Biole. Sae wouldn't give it up. Thus you see how persistent was his attack on our religion and how like a subter-fuge his argument about offending Catholics. He knew perfectly well, as does every other observing man, that Bible or no Bible reading Catholic children, except in very rare in-stances, are not sent to our public schools. "Fourthly. The schools of the second divi-

"Fourthly. The schools of the second division have deteriorated greatly under Ges. Birney's trustceship. He has inaugurated a reign of terror among the teachers of that division until most of them are afraid of him, for they know his power. He has, it is sileged, dismissed teachers out of pure spite. An attempt will be made before the schools commonce again to have at least one of them reinstated. His management is bringing back the cylls of 'cramming.' Heretofozo the second division schools have stood among the first in the district. They did not de so at the last examination.

the first in the district. They did not do so at the last examination.

"For these reasons we sent in a petition for another trustee. The petition was signed by ex-Trustees Lambert, Temple, Randolph, and myself; by Revs. S. M. Hartsock, J. E. Kankin, W. S. Edwards, George O. Little, J. L. Kills, Samuel H. Greene, D. W. Fagnes, Byron Sunderland among the clergy, and by about forty psominent citizens, embracing Jesse B. Wilson, ox-Mayor Emery, W. B. Downing, George Parker, Dr. Stearns, H. B. Moulton, J. Russell Barr, C. H. Burges, W. H. Cassin, and others."

"What reply did the commissioners give you?"

We throw ourselves upon our rights as Christians and citizens, and if necessary will take an appeal to a wider community than ours." PEARSON THE POSTMASTER.

The Anxiety of the New York Papers in His Behalf-The Postmaster General Investigating His Connection with the Private Postal Concerns.

Several of the New York papers, notably the Times, are greatly concerned on account of an alleged conspiracy in the Postoffice department looking to the official decapitation of the truly good reform postmaster of New York, Mr. Pearson. They start out upon the assumption that their dearly beloved postassumption that their dearly beloved postmaster can do no wrong, and that anybody who says differently, or thinks differently, or pretents to have evidence to the contrary is a villain.
On the supposition that some gentlemen
in the Postoffice department were Rostile to Mr. Pearson to the extent of advocating an investigation, the Times has demanded the resignation of a majority of the assistants
postmaster general, and other attaches of the department. The resignations not being forthcoming the metropolitan papers have changed their factics, and now they charge the administration with "setting up a job on Pearson"
to break him down. The simple truth is the postmaster general has been inquiring into entain matters brought to his attention in connection with the prosecution against private postal agencies in New York city. The charge that he is concerned in a conspiracy to "down" Mr. Pearson, who is accused of being interested in one of these enterprises, will probably not prevent him from completing
the investigation.

Postmaster General Gresham, in defining
his position in this matter, said to a reporter
last evening that his attention had been called to the connection of Postmaster Pearson with one of the companies against which proceedings had been instituted for violation of the United States postal laws, and that he was investigating the charges. This, he said,
was all the ground there was for the talk about Pearson's removal. He did not know,
he said, nor did any one else, what would be the vasuit of the investigation. He supposed that Mr. Pearson knew of the charges that had been laid against him, and he would certainly be given an opportunity to make his defense. master can do no wrong, and that any-

had been laid against him, and he would certainly be given an opportunity to make his defense.

The charge against Mr. Pearson is that he was a stockholder, director, or trustee in the Manhattan District Telegraph association, a branch of which association—the United States Circular Dispatch compa y—whose business was conducted in the same 'pulding and with the same force as the Maintatan District Telegraph association, had been carrying on a business which was a violation of the postal laws.

Judge Gresham said he supposed that the President, being a New York man, knew of the charges against Postmuster Pearson, but, he added, "if the administration is determined upon the removal of Mr Pearson, as has been said, then it is without my knowledge. I never heard of such a thing, and I think if the administration is beat on removing him I would know of it.

think if the administration is bent on removing him I would know of it.

He also said, with regard to the statement that certain New York politicians had been here last week to urge Pearson's removal, "If they were here for that purpose I know nothing of it." He had been at work, he said, on the case Wednesday and yesterday, but owing to the pressure of the routine work of the department could not make very great progress. He could not say what would be the outcome of the investigation. of the investigation.

No Frog in Her Stomach. A singular rumor was floating around town yesterday that a Mary Ellen Harper, a colored woman living in Seaton row had reptiles in the stomach. Many colored people asserted it was a clear case of "conjuration," and that Mary Ellen was in a "bad fix," her abdomen being filled with frogs. A REPUBLICAN reporter consequently looked out for the colored female with the frog-inhabited abdomen. Seaton alley was searched for Mary Ellen Harper, but she could not be found. But the reporter discovered a colored woman named Mary Harper in Express alley, and on informing her of the nature of his errand and what had prompted it, received this reply: "Lord, honey, der is nothing de matter wid my stomach; de only trouble wid me is dat I can't get enough to put in it."

The Ownership Not Yet Proven. Property Clerk Sylvester appeared before Judge Wylie yesterday in regard to the $2,500 into which there is some difficulty in proving the ownership. Judge Wylie directed that the order to turn over the money to Miss Wilson, the rightful owner, made Wednesday be not executed. Dist. Atty. Corkhill stated that the girl, who had withheld a confession, is now willing to make one She will appear in court to-day for that purpose, and if she does the money will be returned to Miss Wilson.
